

My China Docs Visa Service Instructions for Completing New China Visa Form

The new China Visa form became effective on September 1, 2007. The new form has been created in Adobe Acrobat® and is designed to be opened and completed online. However, you may also open it and print out the blank form to be completed by hand. The choice is up to you.

If you decide to complete the form by hand, please write legibly. Printing is often better than cursive writing. Either way, your penmanship must be clear enough for Consulate staff to read it.

If you decide to complete the form online, the trick is to locate the Highlight Fields button in the upper, right-hand corner and click it (see graphic below). That will put highlight boxes around each field on the form - making it a lot easier for you to work with them. After typing in your information, click the Highlight Fields button once again to turn the highlights off before printing the form.

If you are going to complete more than one form online, you may save each one by using the File → Save As option from the top menu and entering a different name for each form. To clear a form that has been filled in, click the Reset Form button locate just above the Photo field on page 1.

Some people really like the online form and others don't. Fortunately, the Consulate will accept them either way.

Please fill out the following form. If you are a form author, choose Distribute Form in the Forms menu to send it to your recipients.
